Jeff,

I was glad we had the opportunity to speak at the Firehouse World Conference in San Diego, last month. As I stated, the Redondo Fire Department switched over to the Fireade 2000 foam almost 2 years ago. As the foam officer, I was frustrated with maintaining both Class A and B foams. After learning about the Fireade 2000 product, Redondo Beach sponsored a demonstration, put on by your company, to all of the surrounding departments.

After witnessing the demo, it was obvious that the product performs as advertised. We had our own members apply the Fireade 2000 to fires that we built. We even extinguished a fully involved car fire with two (2) water extinguishers as in the video you provided. Members of the Department who have used the product on interior fires report rapid knockdown and no rekindle.

Also, knowing that we can immediately attack Class A, B and even Class D fires with confidence, by just turning up the concentration saves time and money. Please stay in touch and know that Fireade 2000 helps to make our job a little safer.

Sincerely,

Robert W. Franck
